We are Films for Ukraine.

A collection of creatives and film community members, who push to raise aid for grassroots Ukrainian collectives and charities amidst the conflict - and aim to celebrate the talent of the country while doing so, through screenings & events.

More than 500 days into the war, people still need help, more so now than ever.

Currently, we're organising a fund raising week at Twelfth, a gallery and cinema in central London; showcasing Ukrainian cinema and artistry.

Consisting of an exhibition, and two screening evenings that will present multiple shorts, and a feature film each night - the week aims to raise funds for grassroots charities, and to honour the wealth of creativity of Ukraine.

Our first event, held at Bafta in 2022 saw us screen a range of work from Ukrainian talent, and also featured the film 'The Earth is as Blue as an Orange' (Iryna Tsilyk - 2020). We raised over £10,000 for grassroots charities on the ground in Ukraine.

We very much want to do this again.

МОСАЙКА

Our first partnered charity is the Mosaika Project, who work to help the estimated 1.5 million children affected by the war in Ukraine. A transformative art program, that is guided by some of the most distinguished artists in their field, and is complimented by professional art-therapy sessions.

They empower the thousands of children who are still amidst the crises, helping them with PTSD and trauma through art therapies and creative workshops.
